“What if every young person was given an opportunity to reach their potential?”

CCSSM Program is built on one to one relationships

Our school based mentoring program enables community volunteers to help a young person stay connected to education. By sharing your life experiences, skills and knowledge you help a young person achieve their goals and plan for their future pathways.

Help a young person stay focused and connected

There are many ways that you can connect with a young person in a school setting and the CCSSM program gives you the opportunity to engage in meaningful and productive ways.

Help a young person to realise their strengths and move forward

Becoming part of the CCSSM program is a worthwhile, rewarding experience. You can learn more by visiting our Facebook page; @CCSSMProgram

“Make positive, new experiences happen ”

Mentoring does make a difference

Mentors not only experience positive, fulfilling relationships with a young person, but also with local high schools on the Central Coast. This can be the beginning of sharing many wonderful moments with the NSW Public Education System.

A study conducted by Erebus International evidently corroborates the positive impacts to young people with programs such as CCSSM.

Not only do you positively influence the life of a young person, our mentors often comment on how their own lives are enhanced by participating in the program.

Following mentoring:

94.2%

of students had a better understanding of options for the future*

85.4%

of students had a better understanding of their strengths*

78%

of students had a better understanding of ways of dealing with problems*

The values of mentoring

Mentoring is many things but at its heart lies an affirmation of human relationships and the capacity to enable young people and their mentor to learn and to grow*

*Australian Youth Mentoring Network

Building strong communities by linking young people and caring adults

CCSSM is a program linking caring community members with young people who may need extra support to continue at school, or to prepare for the transition from school to work.

Every little bit counts

By volunteering a small amount of your time to support the work of CCSSM in your community, many young people will reap the benefits.

Every time you volunteer your time to the CCSSM Program you are giving a young person an opportunity to recognise their potential in life.
